Senate Votes Yugoslav Aid Ban

Would Prohibit Resuming Help To Indonesians

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate overrode administration opposition Thursday night to write into the $3,742,365,000 foreign aid bill an amendment aimed at banning any U. S. Assistance for Egypt.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate voted Thursday night to prohibit any military or economic aid to Yugoslavia and to keep the lid on assistance to In-

The voice-vote action on Yugoslavia was taken after comparatively short debate and without objection from Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., floor manager of the bill. Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said it was designed to cut off all aid to that country except surplus

It would remove the discretionary power the President now has to give military or economic aid to Yugoslavia. It does not touch the controversial issue of most-favored treatment in trade with Yugoslavia.

Proxmire also sponsored the move to prohibit resumption of now suspended aid to Indonesia unless the President should determine it essential to U.S. national interest and notifies Congress beforehand.

Maryland Cook Book Available

The Hammond - Harwood House Cook Book should top every Christmas list this year and for many years to come. Dedicated to "The Generations of Maryland Cooks who since 1634 have blended the fruits of Bay, field and forest into 'Maryland's Way'," it is a compilation of favorite family recipes, long cherished and now shared. Carefully selected and thoroughly tested for use today, the recipes retain those rare intangible ingredients, charm and humor. One hundred keynole illustrations include photographs by A. Aubrey Bodine, Francis E. Engle, Marion E. Warren and Fred Thomas and Swann and Marina Hiatt which marvelously reflect the Maryland scene. Much of Maryland's convivial history is related in the text and in the menus for special events, but the book while indigenous to Maryland, is written for good cooks everywhere. It is endlessly readable, and quotable, from the thirstmaking description of how to mix a mint julep to the astonishing notation, inscribed in the family cook book, by Samuel Chase, one of Maryland's four signers of the Declaration of Independence, that he had on Monday 2nd May 1762 married A Man's View Miss Nancy Baldwin.

This is a beautiful book, printed by Judd & Detweiler, edited by Mrs. Lewis R. Andrews and Mrs. J. Reaney Kelly of the Hammond-Harwood House Association, with recipes contributed by many Marylanders. It may be ordered by mail from the Treasurer. Hammond-Harwood House Association, P.O. Box 55, Garrison, Maryland. proceeds go to the Hammond-Harwood House Endowment Fund. The history of the hymn "Now Thank We All Our God," was given by Mrs. Gilford and Mrs. Thurmond Castle accompanied the group singing. Roll call was answered with "Good Design for Purpose." Mary Wise spoke on "Good Design for a Price." She listed the elements of good design as color, light, line, form, space, pattern and texture. She stressed that if something is good it always will be good, and illustrated her point, showing how a Windsor chair which is over 400 years old, still is considered good today. Miss Wise displayed a Swedish tablecloth, tea towels with color design, wooden spoons and glassware. A sunshine report was given by Mrs. David Wilson. Pamphlets on food and nutrition were distributed. The prize for the evening was won by Mrs. Sadie Durst. The meeting closed with the group singing "Lily of the Valley." A social hour followed and refreshments were served. Table decorations were in keeping with Thanksgiving. Hadassah Delegates

Miss Millie Gottlieb, 163 Centre Street, president of the Cumberland Chapter of Hadassah, and Mrs. Leonard C. Schwab, LeFevre Road, delegates were among the more than 2,000 delegates and guests at the 49th national Hadassah convention. at the Sheraton Park Hotel, Washington. They will report to the various local chairman what they learned attending the workshops and business sessions as well as the talks.

President Kennedy's taped recorded message to the convention commended the group. He said "Israel, the chief beneficiary of your actions to improve hospital and health care abroad, has a major university medical center as a result of your efforts. It serves the people of all nations without regard to their politics, religion, race or color. There is no better symbol or universal brotherhood.

Your other activities, such as the programs of vocational training, land reclamation, child rescue, and education, also contribute to the same goal. As the world faces increasingly complicated economic, social and political challenges, it becomes increasingly important that voluntary initiatives such as yours be expanded. This is the very basis of international understanding. Every citizen and every organization whose program advances human welfare fulfills an important national purpose. Democracies such as Israel and United States must have the assistance of voluntary efforts such as yours.

Senators Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) and Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) spoke briefly at the opening session. Miss Agnes Moorehead, actress gave Bible story reading of Noah and the Arc. Mrs. Samuel Halprin, past national president introduced Miss Morehead.

Plenary sessions, workshops and discussion periods were held in programming, fund - raising, the Hadassah Medical Center in Israel, projects for Israel, the press, and discussions by R Sargent Shriver, director of United States Peace Corps, Dr. Albert Sabin, who received the Henrietta Szold Award of 1963 which is given to the outstand ing scientist, humanitarian, educator or statesman, Marquis Childs, Washington bureau chief Louis Post Dispatch, Dr Judah Shapiro, director National Foundation of Jewish Culture Mrs. Arthur Goldberg, wife of Supreme Court Justice Goldberg, and Dr. Kalman J. A man ought to get what he pays for

It doesn't make good sense for you to pay the price of a Chrysler ... and end up with a Chevy. Or a Ford. Or a loaded compact car. Our Chrysler prices start as low as the tags you'll find on some of these. And for this little money you get a husky, grown-up Chrysler. You get big car pride. Big car ride. Backed by 40 years of engineering leadership. We don't sell small-size Chrysler versions. We're big car men. And proud of it! Stop in. Size up all 3 of our great Chrysler series: Economical Newport. Sports-bred 300. Luxurious New Yorker. We'll show you how easy it is to get what you pay for.

Handy Shopping Guide to Series E U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

No matter what their denomination, all U.S. Savings Bonds have these things in common: They're one of the safest and most widely held investments in the world—owned by tens of millions of American families.

They're replaceable in case of loss by fire, theft or plain carelessness

They return $4 for every $3 invested, at maturity.

They're cashable at any time without red tape (and you can defer the tax on the interest until the Bond is cashed).

They do the double job of helping to make your individual future, as well as your country's future, secure.

Buy the ones that fit your budget — at your bank, or through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

Keep freedom in your future with

U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

Makes an ideal gift for graduations, birthdays, communions, bar mitzvahs or any occasion when you want to be especially nice to someone. Including yourself. Sells for $18.75

This is an increasingly popular size with millions of American families. If you'd started buying one every month ten years ago, you'd now have $5,230. On sale at all times for $37.50

In 7% years you can turn this Bond in for a crisp hundred dollar bill. You'll be getting 3%% interest and your government's thanks. You can buy it for only $75.00

This one is tailor-made for the investment of bonuses, tax refunds and other windfalls. In 7% years it grows into a tidy $200 nest egg, yet

costs only $150.00

Grandfathers can give one of these Bonds to eight grandchildren (or eight of them to one grandchild) in any one year without having to pay the gift tax, because the outlay per Bond

is only $375.00

Very few people can buy one of these out of every paycheck. But lots of businesses buy them as a good safe investment for company surplus funds. And widows who suddenly find themselves with a large insurance check can do no better than to put part of that money into one of these king-size Bonds.

$750.00

Issued for larger investors, whether individuals or institutions (yes, corporations, partnerships, credit unions, pension funds and any other group except commercial banks may own Savings Bonds—and many do).

We go out of our way to give our whiskey the character of the great pre-Prohibition bourbons.

The yeast that works for us is at least that old.

We put far more corn in our sour mash than is required of bourbons nowadays.

We still ride out to the corncribs to choose the best ears.

Naturally, older folks enjoy our kind of whiskey. Especially those who remember how good bourbon was before 1920.

But we'd never imagined that so many younger people would feel the same way.

Investigation Of Busy Bobby Baker

The Senate Rules Committee - behind closed doors, of course - is looking into the multifarious affairs of Bobby Baker, one of the more energetic moonlighters.

Until life got too complicated, Baker had been secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority. Ordinarily, that's a full-time job paying $19,500 per annum. But with Congress moving slowly, he apparently found time hanging on his hands.

Enough time, in fact, to occupy himself with a vending machine company specializing in sales to government offices, motels catering to the advise and consent set, a travel agency assisting Congressional travelers, a law partnership with a former Senate sergeant at arms and an insurance company that specialized in government officials.

Ostensibly, what the Senators want to find out is whether this web of activity developed any conflicts of interest. But the nagging question arises: can Senators fairly and impartially judge?

The suggestion has been made that outside counsel be engaged to conduct the inquiry. But this was rejected in the interest of keeping things more or less within bounds of Senatorial

The prospect, therefore, is that a corner of the rug will be lifted and the case of Bobby Baker swept under it.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

The Ruritanian View

If you were the foreign minister of a country-let us call it Ruritania, so as not to seem invidious-just how would you go about making sense of U.S. foreign

The first test, you might say, would be to determine whom the U.S. regards as its enemy. Is it Khrushchev?

No, it can't be Khrushchev. The U.S. has signed a nuclear test ban with him on terms acceptable to Moscow. It made no protest when its neighbor to the north, Canada, sold a lot of wheat to the Russians; indeed, it followed the Canadian sale with an offer of wheat on its own. Clearly, the U.S. wants a thriving Soviet Union and peaceful dealings with it on the basis of the post-Yalta, post-Potsdam status quo.

Can the enemy of the U.S. be Mao Tse-tung? Averell Harriman has so identified the enemy. But whenever Chiang Kai-shek sends his son, or his staff of military planners, to the U.S. from Formosa to ascertain just how an attempt to undermine and overthrow the Red Chinese government would sit with Washington, he gets a negative response. The U.S. Seventh Fleet is in Asiatic waters, so he is told, to protect Formosa Strait, not to give protection to Chiang Kai-shek troops who might hope to leave the strait behind them, going west toward Nanking and

So we can't be very serious about Mao Tse-tung as an enemy. We don't want him in the United Nations. but we recognize, in a round-about way, that he is the boss of mainland China.

Can the enemy of the U.S. be Castro? Yes, up to a point. We express our displeasure at his anti-U.S. stance by enforcing a partial embargo against him. This is to say that U.S. ships are not sailing with supplies into Cuban ports. But we have yet seriously to twist the arms of any of our "allies" who persist in selling anything to Castro that he can pay for.

The foreign minister of Ruritania, looking more closely at our Cuban policy, would discover some mystifying things. We merely "deplore" it when Castro fires on a U.S. cargo boat carrying bauxite from Jamaica to a Gulf Coast port. But when a British ship puts into Key West with a load of Cuban refugees, we arrest the captain for not giving the U.S. immigration authorities notice that he wishes a docking

So is Castro really our enemy? If you were the foreign minister of Ruritania, would you believe it? Still, we must have enemies. The foreign minister of Ruritania, looking at the Dominican Republic, might receive a clue. There a military dictatorship rules, having recently deposed the "democratic" Juan Bosch. The British have recognized the dictatorship, but

Washington refuses to follow suit. So the foreign minister of Ruritania might reasonably argue that the U.S. doesn't like dictatorships. Lifting his gaze from the Dominican Republic and staring at South Vietnam, where we have at least tacitly helped in overturning a tough government, the foreign minister of Ruritania might fancy that he had discovered a corroboration of his insight. Inasmuch as it is tento-one that Ruritania is itself a dictatorship, this could hardly sit very well with the puzzled foreign minister.

Still and all, the Ruritanian could hardly remain satisfied for very long that he had hit upon the key to our foreign policy. We don't really care about dictatorships-provided they are old enough, and large enough, and, not to put too fine a point upon it. Red enough. We lend money to dictator Tito. We give Sukarno the wherewithal to buy General Dynamics' surplus jet planes. We don't seriously try to get any mitigation of the repressiveness practiced by the satellite dictatorships of eastern Europe when we make our deals or sign our treaties with Khrushchev.

So what must the foreign minister of Ruritania conclude from all this? Plotting it in logical terms on a graph, he must conclude that the only enemy that Washington acknowledges is the dictatorial government of a small, weak nation that is actively anti-Red. So what would be the safest policy for Ruritania to follow vis-a-vis the U.S.? Why, to become firmly "neutral" against us, meanwhile showing friendship for Khrushchev, Castro and Tito. (Just as Ben Bella's Algeria, incidentally, has done.)

Foreign Aid Helps Overseas Firms Compete With American Industries

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson is traveling in the Midwest. In his absence the Washington Merry-Go-Round is written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

But plainly, aid money has built foreign factories which today are forcing American firms out of business and American workers out of work. This is a development Senators can no longer overlook as they debate this week how much more money to ladle out to needy na-after another has been forced by foreign competition to cut back production, thus adding to our 4,000,000 unemployed and multimillion-dollar gold loss.

This plight reaches all the way down from such giants as steel and textiles to mushroom growers. Yet Uncle Sam, perhaps out of habit, is still building plants for nations that may take markets away from us.

prey to Communism, the United States in the interests of its own security must continue to help the undeveloped nations to help themselves.

Yet in the last five years, foreign aid has built, expanded or modernized: 31 pulp and paper plants, 24 chemical plants, 13 aluminum plants, and 22 rubber processing plants. It has given another 27 loans or grants for studies or construction of petroleum refineries.

Generosity Backfires

Our tax money has also built foreign shipyards, plastic plants, pottery works, engineering labs, and industrial research centers. It has been spent to develop foreign mining, manufacturing, and even merchandising.

A report $2,000,000,000 has gone out of the U.S. Treasury to build or expand 179 foreign steel mills. This American generosity has helped to reduce our share of the world's steel market from 17 per cent in 1950 to less than 6 per cent.

Result: Our steel mills are operating today at only about 60 per cent of their capacity.

Congressman Bob Casev points a finger, for instance, at Mexico across the border from his native Texas. In 1960, Mexico exported only 65 tons of steel plate to the U. S. Two years later, the figure had risen to 12,000 tons, which has already been more than doubled this year.

'Whose tax money," cries Casey, "do you think built the 22 Mexican steel mills under our aid program?" For the textile industry, the aid-pampered competition has been even more disastrous. No anese industry. But they have been largely ignored. An ailing factory apparently can't qualify for U. S. aid unless

By John Crosby

CRIEFF, Scotland

"I put all the emphasis on the modernization of Britain," declared the recently unbelted Earl, now simple Sir Alec Douglas-Home, trying on his wings as a commoner in a by-election deep in the Scottish highlands.

The rain pelted down on the lairds and their ladies and their children and their dogs standing on a golf course as the Prime Minister spoke of modernizing Britain, which will be the central issue of the contest between Labor and the Tories whenever the election is held.

Sir Alec, a most uncommon and recent commoner, is about as representative of modern man as Beowulf, and he was standing for what is considered a safe seat, Kinross and West Perthshire, in an area that has not emerged very far from the Middle Ages. As we chased after Sir Alec through the misty glens dotted with sheep, up the back lochs, we passed superb stone manor houses full of tweedy Scottish gentlefolk still staffed by servants and retainers who are, if anything, even more conservative than the lairds and ladies they wait upon. The district has been Conservative since 1923 and I asked Anthony Sampson of the Observer by what necromancy the Socialists could capture this Tory citadel and he said, "If the Labor party sent in 11,000 Socialist girls to seduce the entire male electorate, that might do it. Nothing else would."

Sir Alec, who (as this is written) held a seat in neither commons nor Lords, pelted through the unvarying rain, shaking hands with the crofters, patting the heads of little children with his frosty but tremendous charm, talking about sports, or the weather, or agriculture, or the beauty of the turning leaves.

"I have a hill farm much like yours," he'd say, equating his 50,0000 acres of highlands with the farmer's four. (The hill farmers are deserting the highlands in droves because they can't scratch a living out of the soil and the Conservatives have cut their subsidies.)

This uncommon commoner has much more the common touch than Macmillan, that lofty though seedy aristocrat, or Winston Churchhill, a figure of almost godlike grandeur, or even Attlee, who came from the people. Sir Alec would turn his flinty smile on the fishmongers, the fruiterers, the loungers in front of the Commerical Temperance Hotel (Scotland which produces that lovely whisky is full of people who disapprove of your drinking the stuff), his wife and children standing by, democratically His daughters have shed their titles out of love for him and one of them said: "It's the last job in the world we'd have picked for daddy. But since he's got it, we've got to make the most of

This strange contest was marked with reluctance on every side. Home was a most reluctant Prime Minister and his principal opponent, the Liberal candidate, Alistair Duncan Millar, a sadfaced, immensely respected local laird, would be grief-stricken if he won and was uprooted from his beloved hill farm and sent to Westminister. Fortunately, he won't be. Sir Alec is Prime Minister of England running in a local contest on local issues which he only dimly understands. For instance, Green Stamps (the American variety and the same company) have been introduced here by the chain stories and are driving the small tradesmen to the wall. A reporter asked Sir Alec, "Have you any views about trading stamps?"

"No." said Sir Alec, the bony face creased with wonder that he should be asked such a thing. "No, I don't think I have any views on that." Someone must have got to him later with the suggestion that this was a matter of some local importance. The next time the question was asked, he said he still didn't have any views but he'd get some. That night we drove through the unimaginably empty and ghostly and scary Scottish hills, through driving rain, seeing the world through what I think of as the Alfred Hitchcock Windshield-Wiper Shot (expecting any moment a ghostly figure to rise up and flag us down), toward the fantastically remote village of Enoch Dru, passing nary a house nor a human nor even a sheep on the black rainswept roads. In the little village hall, the local Laird Balfour shepherded his flock to their seats personally. I asked him how many of the voters were there. "All of them." he said, "all 70. Very rarely do

Then he introduced Sir Alec: "I must remind you he is appearing as your candidate, not as Prime Minister." But it was as Prime Minister that Sir Alec spoke in his confident voice, ringing with authority. 'Once nuclear war breaks out, it will be impossible for the highlands to escape it. Nuclear dust

Don't you see how difficult this makes things for the electorate." For every Scot who is thrilled that a Prime Minister should be a candidate in these remote glens. there's another who bitterly resented the fact that the Prime Minister should thrust aside a

Moonshiners Not Too Fussy About Lead Content

Lead-laden moonshine caused the death of a 34-year-old woman. It was not the liquor that killed her but the lead. According to Dr. Robert W. Willett of Raleigh, N. Garrett 4-H Boys And Girls To Be Honored

Achievement Dinner Slated Tonight

OAKLAND - One of the outstanding 4-H programs of the year will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock at Northern High

This is the program designed to honor those 4-H members who have completed various projects throughout the year. Four-H offers a wide variety of projects for farm or non-farm boys and girls. There are now 82 projects including four new projects which are photography, health, grooming and markmanship.

Four-H'ers submit their records on projects completed during the year to the County Extension office for judging. These records are judged on accuracy, completeness, scope and neatness. The best records are sent to the State 4-H Club office for state competition in each project area. This year, approximately 175 4-H boys and girls are to be honored. The adult leaders are also rewarded for their services during

The Achievement Night program is planned by the Garrett County 4-H Council. George Hanst will be the speaker for the evening.

PSC Sponsors Parents of 4-H'ers and special guests will be attending.

Senior Church League To Open At "Y" Nov. 27

The Senior Men's Church-Basketball League is scheduled to begin its season at the Cumberland Central YMCA on Wednesday November 27th according to Lynn Patchin, physical director of the local "Y". In an effort to organize a compatible program in basketball for men, the league will be composed of teams representing those interested church groups, from where competition may be more equalized than it has been in the past few years.

The objective of this program is to provide an activity where all participants would get chance to compete with other persons of near equal strengths. The "Y" has accommodations for at least seven teams this year. and each team must have bonifide church members on its roster. DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE - Here's how to work it: AXYDLBAAXR is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
